

Winter Quarters of a German Regiment Fighting Against the Russians in Poland, Boasting More Comfortable Accommodations Than the Average Soldier in Europe Can Claim.

Austrian Officers in Camp in Galicia. The Cold Wind from the Snowy Slopes of the Carpathians Is Turned by a Barrier of Rude Lean-tos Circling the Campfire, but There Is Nothing to Keep Out Rain and Snow. Here Officers Accustomed to the Ease and Gayety of Court Life in Vienna Find Scant Cheer During the Winter Days.
